Ladies and Gentlemen:

We are an Investment Adviser registered under the Investment Advisers Act of 1940 (the "Act") and maintain records and follow procedures required by the Act and other such regulatory organizations. We act as an investment adviser for the accounts introduced to your firm with full discretionary power to invest on their behalf, including the execution of orders to buy and sell securities.

This letter will serve as our certification to you that we maintain, in our files, appropriate client authorization to direct orders in a discretionary matter for all accounts on whose behalf we may place orders for with your firm and through your agents. Further, you may rely on your assurance that we have examined any trust instruments, corporate authorizations or any other such authorizing document to act in a fiduciary capacity and are satisfied that the person(s) executing our contract was properly authorized by the organization they represent.

Moreover, based upon our review of these documents and other relevant information regarding our clients, we confirm to you that the orders place through your agents and with your firm will be suitable for our clients and consistent with their authorizations.

Sincerely yours,
